Favors Prop 2½ Override

PTO Letter Brings Parental Dissent

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A letter from representatives of six of Andover's seven Parent-Teacher Organizations supporting the Proposition 2½-over-ride question on next month's election ballot set off a chorus of dissent at a School Committee meeting Tuesday night.

Parents from some PTOs objected to the letter because they said it did not represent their views. And parents from the West Elementary PTO, the only PTO not represented in the letter, said none of their members were present when the letter was drafted.

"All of our groups are united in pledging themselves to working for passage of the override referendum," the brief letter to the schoolmen read in part.

Unless the override is passed, the school department will be limited to a $12.9 million budget, and the letter said PTO members "felt strongly (that) would seriously impair the quality of the Andover school system."

The letter was signed by PTO leaders from Andover High, West Junior High, East Junior High, Bancroft, Sanborn and South.

The committee and administration had asked PTOs and interested townspeople to discuss how they would cut the budget from $14.9 million (now down to $14.5 million after the committee's first pass) to $12.9 million, if the referendum question is defeated.

Each group was to come up with a list of priorities for budget reductions, to be submitted to the committeemen.

But at a meeting called by the administration to draw up questions and answers meant to inform voters about the referendum question, PTO members agreed they would rather emphasize their support for the override than possible budget cuts. James Flaherty of Jefferson Lane, an East

PTO member, explained.

"The PTOs feel we should work toward the referendum's passage, if it will remove the possibility of deep cuts in the system," Flaherty said.

The West Elementary PTO was not represented at that meeting. Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert said the meeting was called on short notice, and West Elementary people could not be reached in time.

The letter was submitted to the West Elementary PTO for a signature, but Linda Cassily of Sevilla Road said the West PTO decided not to sign it, preferring to submit to the committee their recommended list of cuts that would "not hurt the overall quality" of the schools.

Schoolman Donald Robb said the position taken in the letter "makes sense," adding that it would be "tragic" if the committee spent too much time deciding how to cut $1.5 million from the budget, "instead of focusing on what our options are."

Robb added that he hoped the PTOs would be actively involved in informing voters "about why the referendum makes sense."

Richard Neal commented that each group would inevitably come up with a different set of priorities for cuts, pitting parents against one another. "PTO unity is what we really need," Neal said, "not divisiveness."

Sherron Heller of Tewksbury Street said the South School group had never discussed the letter, but had spent hours developing recommended budget cuts. "We suggested cuts totalling $1.8 million," she said, "not to encourage everyone to override."

Deborah Blais of West Parish Drive said she was "quite upset" to hear Neal call for unity after the schoolmen had asked parents to come up with their priorities. She added that it was unrealistic to expect total agreement among the seven PTOs.

And Chris Holmes of Whispering Pines Lane said the letter seemed to say, "It's too hard to handle (seven sets of budget priorities), so let's not do it. That's not registering how I feel. That letter takes away my ability to say anything."

Holmes added that the committee must come up with a $12.9 million budget in case the referendum is defeated, and not "wait until the last minute."

Chairman Joseph Finn agreed that the committee must come up with that "emergency budget" before the election, to give townspeople an idea of where the cuts will come from if the override doesn't pass. He told the parents he still wanted the PTOs' input on possible reductions.

Finn said each school group should submit its list to the committee, and those lists will be on file at the school offices. And if parents do not want to go through their PTOs, they are welcome to submit suggestions directly to the committee, he added.

The Proposition 2½-over-ride question promises to be the most interesting feature of the annual town election this year. If a majority of voters approve that referendum they will exempt debt service on the $13.72 million school building project from the limits of 2½, leave the school operating budget intact — and add $2 to next year's tax rate.

Salter With Group Urging Jury Reform

Elden R. Salter, town clerk of Andover, has announced that a joint committee comprised of representatives of the Massachusetts City Clerks Association, along with representatives of the Massachusetts Town Clerks Association, have formed a joint committee to work actively for the expansion of the Middlesex jury system to all the counties in Massachusetts.

The Middlesex jury system, commonly called the one-day or one-trial method of serving as compared to the present method of a month of service used in all the other counties, has been in effect in Middlesex for the past few years. During 1980, 83 percent of the jurors completed their service on the first day, often the first morning, and 94 percent finished in three days or less.

Besides saving time for jurors, Middlesex County has reduced payed-out juror dollars from $842,025 in 1978 to $364,317 in 1980, while at the same time going through court reorganization, which increased the number of jurors by 25 percent.

The Middlesex system requires all employees be paid by their employer the first three days of service, after which the county will reimburse at a rate of $40 a day. Another key feature is that it allows a prospective juror to postpone the summons date to any day more convenient for the juror.

Nobody in Middlesex County escaped jury duty—nor Harvard president, Derek Bok, federal bankruptcy judge, Thomas W. Lawless, doctors or lawyers, policemen or clergy, the deaf or blind, or nursing mothers. They have all done their time, providing a cross section of people that is a rarity on juries in most counties.

Occasionally, the Middlesex computer is overzealous in ferreting out prospective jurors. Joseph Romanow, Middlesex jury commissioner, recently received a summons back from Michael O'Malley of Wayland, accompanied by a stirring commentary on citizen responsibility.

"I am nine years old and I am not ready yet," wrote young O'Malley. "Please send this back when I am 18 years old. . . because I want to be on the jury."

Final Date For Voter Registration

Final day for registering to vote in the annual town election and to participate in town meeting action will be Monday, March 1, when the Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session at Town Hall from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

There will also be a special registration session on Saturday, Feb. 27, from 12 noon to 8 p.m. at the town clerk's office.

New registrants should bring some form of proof of residence, such as a tax or utility bill.

New voters may also register any day at the town clerk's office during regular hours.

Video Game License Tabled

Papa Gino's request for a video game license was tabled and a New Hampshire auctioneer was granted an Andover auctioneer's license during a regular meeting of the Board of Selectmen at Town Hall Monday night.

The recently-opened Papa Gino's restaurant at Shawsheen Plaza asked for a license to operate a video game from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday. But Selectman Gerald Silverman wanted that request tabled until the board could determine whether the machine would impinge on the eating area in the restaurant.

Auctioneer Richard Withington of Hillsborough, N.H. was granted a one-day auctioneer's license for 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 6, at the Sheraton-Rolling Green. The town manager said it would be "legal and appropriate" to grant the license because Withington is incorporated in Massachusetts.

Withington was recently denied a one-day license under the selectmen's policy to deny licenses to out-of-state residents. The town clerk subsequently stopped Withington in mid-auction at the Rolling Green, where he was auctioning under another man's license.

Other licenses issued Monday night: to the Christian Formation Center, River Road, a one-day all-alcoholic licenses for wedding receptions on March 6 and March 27, and dinner dances on March 19 and 20 and April 3; to Christy's Markets, Inc., 10 Railroad St., a common victualler's license; and to Temple Emanuel, 7 Haggetts Pond Road, a one-day beer and wine license for March 13.

In addition, Bay State Gas was granted approval to repair gas mains at the corner of Hidden Road and Gardner, 269 North Main St., Marion Drive, and 148 Summer St.; while Massachusetts Electric Co. was granted permission to put up power lines over and across Webster Street, to provide additional service to the West Andover Industrial Tech Park.

Charitable Events Get Approval

Two events intended to benefit charities, scheduled for this spring, were okayed by the selectmen this week.

The board Monday night approved a request from the American Diabetes Association, Massachusetts Affiliate, Inc., to hold its annual "Bike Ride for Diabetes" on Sunday, May 2. A rain date of May 16 was also approved.

And the Exchange Club of Lawrence was given permission to conduct its annual "Run for Charity" on Sunday, May 16, starting at 10:30 a.m.

The selectmen stipulated that both organizations make arrangements for routes and safety precautions with the chief of police.

Land Management Committee Schedule

The Land Management Committee announces its meeting schedule for the month of March. On Wednesday evening, March 3, the discussion will cover the conservation lands along the Shawsheen River in the Shawsheen Village area, Carmel Woods and the lands along Husseys Brook.

On Wednesday evening, March 17, the discussion will cover the lands in the Rattlesnake Hill area and the lands along the Skug River. Overseers of these various parcels have been notified and the general public is invited to attend.

All meetings of the Land Management Committee are held in the Conference Room, 11 Essex St., beginning at 7:30 p.m. It is the desire of the committee to inform interested persons about conservation land and to discuss present and future uses of these open spaces.

Recycling Pickup Next Week

Recycling pickup of paper and glass continue to be made every other week according to the schedule that was mailed to Andover households last summer. Townspeople who did not receive schedules may still pick them up at Town Hall. The week beginning with Monday, March 1, is the next recycling week.

Although most people who recycle regularly seem to know how to prepare their paper and glass for pickup, there are a few who have forgotten that brown glass is no longer accepted, or that green and clear glass must be carefully separated from each other.

Glass presented in reusable containers such as kitchen wastebaskets is easiest to handle, especially in rainy and snowy weather. Marking containers with permanent marker or the Andover Recycles sticker available at Town Hall makes them easier for the recycling driver to see. Some residents are still placing their recyclables too close to trash, and they are either picked up by the trash collector or by-passed by the recycling truck.

The simplest way to save papers and magazines for recycling is in double paper grocery bags, although paper tied with string is acceptable also and does not blow off the truck after it is picked up.

DEFEATING WINTER'S GREATEST THREAT

Question: Which of the following is the most frequent cause of damage to New England Homes?

- A. Windstorms.
- B. Fire.
- C. Frozen pipes with ensuing water damage.

Answer: Here in New England, more homes are damaged each year by water damage (following pipe freezing) than by fire! Item C is the correct answer.

American Alarm & Communications' HEATWATCH is designed to defeat winter's greatest threat to your home by detecting heating system failure and reporting it at once so that remedial action can be taken before pipes freeze.

Each winter HEATWATCH saves a number of homes and businesses from costly plumbing and water damage repairs. In those instances, the modest cost of HEATWATCH is returned to the owner 100 fold or more in the losses prevented.

With winter almost upon us, now is a good time to order your HEATWATCH service. In no other instance is the old adage more true that:

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Children's Theatre Group Observes Anniversary

The Children's Theatre of the Andover Community Theatre is celebrating its first anniversary.

There are drama clubs in junior and senior high schools for older children and community theatre for adults, but nothing for the younger children till now. A year ago, two members of the Andover Community Theatre, Pat Perreault and Julie Pike, realized a dream come true when given the go ahead by ACT's Board of Directors to produce and direct the play "Winnie, The Pooh."

The Children's Theatre is for boys and girls, ages 6 to 12 years old. Twenty-three children were on stage for "Winnie, The Pooh," 27 for "The Wizard of Oz" and 36 for "The Knight Before Glasses." While the cast is learning lines and how to move on stage, the stage managers are learning how to coordinate the cast's entrances and exits, the set changes and the lighting cues into a well run production. The stage crew learns how to build the set and where to place each set piece on stage. The house manager and house staff learn how to work with the theatre-goers before, during and after the show.

Adults supervise the different phases of the production, but the children do the work.

The entire company of children and adults invite the public to help them celebrate their first anniversary by attending their production of Robert Antrim's "The Knight Before Glass" on March 12 and 13 at 7 p.m. and March 14 at 3 p.m. at West Elementary School, Beacon Street, West Andover.

Hospice Program Developing

The Hospice of Greater Lawrence, Inc., through its 31 directors, is developing a program of care for terminally ill patients in the area encompassing the towns of Andover, North Andover, Methuen and Lawrence. Backgrounds represented include banking, business, clergy, funeral homes, hospitals, law, media, medicine, nursing, nursing homes, physical therapy, politics, social security, social services and interested persons in the Greater Lawrence Community at large.

Hospice Care's concern for the whole family complements and integrates traditional forms of health care. The Hospice team helps the family confront their problems and concentrates on achieving comfort and quality in the dying person's remaining lifetime through a blend of professional and volunteer support, whether the patient be at home or in a health care facility.

If interested in supporting this effort, contact the Hospice of Greater Lawrence, Inc., 35 Jackson St., Lawrence, 01840, during the week of March 1 through 5 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., as well as Thursday evening, March 4, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The new telephone number will be available through the operator at that date.

A file of names of interested people will be developed at that time to include the following areas of volunteering: professional skills (RNs, etc.), direct volunteer service with patients, administrative and clerical skills and fund raising interests.

Cross-Country Skiing

AVIS members Deena Hammond, Lyn Beattie, and Judy Medler prepare for an enjoyable cross country trek on the Amy Gordon Taft Reservation. AVIS encourages residents to explore the many trails available now before the snow leaves us until next season.

AVIS Land Excellent For Cross Country Skiing

By Lynn Beattie

Cross country skiing is at its best now and A.V.I.S. reservations offer excellent trails close to home.

The Amy Gordon Taft reservation on Route 125 between Vine Street and Wildwood Road is a fine example. This 30-acre reservation was the generous gift of Rebekah Taft in 1972 in memory of her mother. Use of the land is intended to "encourage the love of nature" and will be held permanently for conservation use.

Enter on Vine Street and take the trail bearing to the left (signs indicate the opposite). It gradually descends a slope, circles around past a pond and passes over a large rock dike next to the site of an old grist mill. Turn right before the bridge (this leads out onto Wildwood Road) and follow the trail through a stone wall and up a short grade back to the Vine Street entrance. The terrain is varied and scenic, and the trail can be negotiated by skiers of any ability. Children can enjoy wandering from established trails to follow animal tracks or explore on their own. The complete loop can easily be completed in about 40 minutes.

Samaritans Seeking Volunteers

The Samaritans of Greater Lawrence are interviewing men and women who can give five hours a week helping suicidal, lonely and distressed people. The next training course, which is held at the Samaritan Center in Grace Episcopal Church in Lawrence, will start Wednesday, March 3, from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Not everyone who volunteers is accepted by the Samaritans, according to Sally Casper, executive director. The desire to help does not automatically qualify a person to be a helper. "What we are looking for are gentle, ordinary people who care—people with a capacity to establish relationships quickly, who are stable in themselves, and who are flexible. We don't want people who are eager to give advice or who are pushy. Nor do we want people intent on passing along their own political or religious views. For our purposes, the best volunteers are those who possess wisdom of the heart and make trustworthy and reliable friends."

Ninety-four men and women from 15 cities and towns in the Merrimack valley have been trained as Samaritan volunteers since the Lawrence branch opened in April 1981. After completing a six-session training course, they answer phones in the 24-hour Samaritan Center at 35 Jackson St. and respond to the needs of troubled people who walk in off the street. The Samaritans talk to callers as young as seven and as old as 91. About half are distressed enough to be thinking of suicide when they first call. Others are depressed or anxious and in need of someone to talk to who won't panic and would never tell anyone.

The Lawrence chapter is one of six Samaritan branches in the United States (the others are in Boston, Cape Cod, Providence, Keene and Chicago) to adopt the model which originated in London in 1953. The Samaritans in the British Isles currently have 22,000 volunteers in 175 cities and towns, and are contacted by a quarter of a million new callers every year.

The local group is looking for volunteers from Lowell and Haverhill in preparation for extending phone lines to a larger area. In the first 10 months of operation, more than 1,000 people from 31 towns have used the Samaritan service either for themselves or on behalf of a friend or family member at risk of suicide. Calls have increased from 10 to 15 a day to nearly 100 calls a day. If the rate of growth continues as expected, 40 new volunteers will be needed by summer in order to maintain 24-hour coverage, according to Casper. "If you think you might not be able to handle the stress of listening to someone on the edge of suicide, but you'd like to try, you are probably just the kind of person we are looking for."

Addison Gallery Receives Grant

The Addison Gallery of American Art in Andover has received an imaginative challenge grant from the Permanent Charity Fund of Boston for endowment of exhibitions and programs that offer exposure for Boston artists. The challenge grant of $100,000 is to be matched as part of the present 50th Anniversary Capital Campaign of the Addison Gallery. The campaign goal is $4.765 million.

Permanent Charity Fund Director Geno Ballotti says, "The exposure artists receive at the Addison appears to offer substantive impetus to their careers and guarantees them an intelligent, inquisitive audience capable of asking the questions artists want asked, and of remembering work that is memorable. We are pleased to serve the visual artists' community of Boston and the Addison in this way. We hope art patrons in the region will agree and give to meet this challenge to ensure artists of the perpetuation of serious and sympathetic attention from one of the best local museums whose collection and programs are of national renown."

The Addison Gallery was founded in 1931 by Thomas Cochran and is one of two museums in the country associated with a high school. Used extensively by students at Phillips Academy, as well as by the Greater Boston Community, the collection of American painting, sculpture and photography ranks among the finest in the country. It includes Copleys, Homers, Sargents, O'Keefes and Andover graduates, Frank Stella and Carl Andre, to name just a few.

Director Christopher C. Cook says, "We deeply appreciate the confidence which this grant from Boston's largest foundation represents. We have been proud to exhibit over the last decade work of more than 100 artists from the region, and we continue to be very interested in the talent to be seen in the Boston area. A museum has a responsibility to present the work of excellent artists from its community, but more than that, it is rewarding and lively."

Video art by Boston artist Gabriel Muntades is currently on exhibit. Painter Maud Morgan had an important retrospective at the Addison in 1977 which she felt launched her career anew after a long period of critical neglect. Artists Sarah Suplee and Fred Faudie have shown at the Addison as have Bill and Clara Wainwright. After teaching students in conjunction with their show, the Wainwright influence was visible in student work for months afterward. Gardner Cox, Michael Mazur, Stephen Trefonides, Arnold Trachtman, Barbara Swan, Ellen Banks, Katherine Porter and other well known Boston artists have shown at the Addison. Last year the Gallery exhibited painter Todd McKie and furniture maker Judy McKie. Elaine Spatz Rabinowitz, now on the Andover faculty, had her first solo museum show at the Addison. video artist Donald Burgy and photographers David Akiba, Roswell Angier, Marie Cosindas, Kipton Kumler, Wendy Snyder MacNeil, Ron MacNeil, Olivia Parker, Eugene Richards, Minor White and Kelly Wise are represented in the Addison collection, as are another 50 living Boston artists.

Students Visit Hewlett-Packard

West Junior High students Andy Cummings, Glen Livermore, Erin Sheehan, Lori Colley and Karyn Worthley talk with Production Manager and West Junior High Fred Snell during visit to H-P Andover plant.

Bob Charland from West Junior High is technician Rick Schul's volunteer to this demonstration of the Hewlett-Packard Ultrasound Imaging System. The project demonstration was part of a Project Discovery tour of the HP Andover facility.

Fifteen West Junior High students visited Hewlett-Packard Company on Friday accompanied by Frank McCarthy, science teacher, and Ruby Easton, coordinator of Project Discovery.

This visit was the result of the recent establishment of an industry, business, community, education collaborative and the cooperation of Fred Snell, production manager at Hewlett-Packard.

The collaborative consists of 15 representatives from area industry, business and the Andover community who meet monthly with delegates from the Andover school system to use the team approach to integrate the world of work with classroom experience. Among the significant goals of this cooperative network are the development of community resources so that students can be made aware of career and educational options, can be exposed to a variety of adult role models and can participate in such experiences as shadowing, mentorships or site trips such as the one to Hewlett-Packard.

The formation of this collaborative is one of the primary objectives of Project Discovery, a federally funded project based at West Junior High School. Project Discovery is aimed at supporting classroom infusion of career education and providing experience-based opportunities for students to expand their awareness of occupations. Through such events such as the trip to HP, students gain increased understanding of the relationship between classroom instruction and their future educational or career goals.

While visiting HP, West Junior High students were given an overview of the company by Lorraine Leavitt, personnel administrator. Her presentation included a brief history of the company, its products and the variety of career options represented by this single division. Students then participated in a demonstration of company products and a tour of the facility.

Hewlett-Packard Company is a major supplier of precision electronic equipment used in measurement, computation and analysis. Headquartered in Palo Alto, Calif., the company operates more than 45 manufacturing facilities worldwide and employs approximately 64,000 people. About 730 people are employed in the Andover division, which, as part of the company's medical products group, has been manufacturing electronic diagnostic medical instruments and systems for over five years.

An upcoming event sponsored by Project Discovery will be a Discovery Week for ninth graders. Throughout the week of March 8 through 12, a variety of speakers will make classroom presentations relating their occupation to an academic area.

Project Discovery was an outgrowth of an inservice course for teachers led last spring by Peggy Cain, West Junior High counselor. Some 22 participating teachers endorsed the need for current career development information and skills. This part-time project is staffed by Ruby Easton, coordinating counselor, Peggy Cain, grant originator and Janet Schroeder, project secretary.

Students participating in the Hewlett-Packard visit included Ann Abele, Chris Atwood, Bob Charland, Lori Colley, Andy Cummings, Anne Harcastle, Norah Hart, Kathy Kimball, Glen Livermore, Kay Levesque, Joanne Martin, Mary Beth Mooney, Jim Nelson, Erin Sheehan and Karyn Worthley.

Ann Abele, Andy Cummings, Karyn Worthley, Erin Sheehan and Lori Colley listen as Production Manager Fred Snell explains HP3060 board tester used to automatically test printed circuit boards.

Western Round-Up

By Kristen James

The end of the week marked the closing of second term at Andover West Junior High and the half-way point of the year. The year so far has been a successful one, both in academics and extra-curricular activities.

The boys' basketball team added two more victories to its already undefeated record. The games were against North Andover and Tewksbury. Tim Perry, with 21 points, was the high scorer in the game against Tewksbury. Final score in this exciting game was 49-23 West.

The girls' basketball team, under the coaching supervision of Mr. Nichols, also had two victories. They defeated Dracut with a score of 38-31. Kathy Neaves was the high scorer with 16 points. The score against Tewksbury was 40-24 West. High scorer in this game was Sue Sellars with 11 points.

Congratulations to both teams for their winning efforts.

Yearbooks are on sale for any student who wants one. The book will include pictures and works by the students over the past school year and should prove to be a great success. Buy one and support your school!

The annual drama production, "Airline," was a two-act comedy by Tim Kelly. The play, under the direction of Mrs. Doris Bernardin, dealt with the zany happenings of a third-rate airline. All proceeds will go the West Junior High Student Council for the ninth grade social. The cast and crew did an excellent job and made the evening a great success.

The boys' basketball team has almost completed its season with an astonishing record is 13 wins and one loss. They added another victory to this record against Stoneham. The team won 82-41 with high scorers Tim Perry and Craig Hammond with 17 points and Paul Lambers with nine points.

The basketball team has challenged the faculty and will hold the annual student vs. faculty game after winter vacation.

Two weeks ago 15 students auditioned for a special junior district choir sponsored by the Massachusetts Music Educators Association. The students were coached by Mr. Gould, Mr. Collins and Mr. Hudson. The following girls were accepted into the chorus: Karyn Worthley, Jenny Amstrats, Michelle DeVoir, Christina O'Hearne and Kris James. The boys will be featured in next week's article. Congratulations to all who were chosen!

Co-editors Steffanie Weinstein and Julie Witover have been working with the yearbook staff and faculty to meet the deadline in early March. Stories, poems, prose and art work are being submitted to faculty advisors for the yearbook. Money is being raised by the students through sponsors and dances. The yearbook, the first one at West, should prove to be a great success.

Honored

Donna Marie Russell, daughter of Professor and Mrs. William E. Russell, 3 Elysian Drive, Andover, was recently commended by the headmaster and faculty of Phillips Academy for her outstanding academic performance during the fall term.

She was one of 16 students in the entire school to receive a perfect "six" average for the term. She is a member of the class of 1984.

DPW Director Hits The Road With His Pump Station Plans

The Public Works director is taking his show on the road — the sewage pumping station show, that is. This week, DPW Director Robert McQuade met with the selectmen and Planning Board to present plans for the new $6 million pumping station, and he was scheduled to meet next with the Conservation Commission and Andover Historical Commission.

And this spring, he will visit Washington, D.C. to make sure the federal government is still going to come through with its 75 percent of the project funding. The state will pay for 15 percent, and the town will pick up the rest.

Before an audience from Shawsheen Village and the historical commission at the selectmen's meeting Monday night, McQuade described the proposed pumping station design as "the chapel in the woods." He won a big laugh by comparing it to the controversial "pagoda" design for the new West Junior High library addition.

The new station will replace the existing Riverina Road plant. It will be built across the Shawsheen River, off Tantallon Road, on property that is now part of the Shetland Properties, behind the Shawsheen Mills power plant.

The project architects have designed a building that will "blend" with Shawsheen Village, which is designated a national historic district. The design must meet the approval of both the local historical commission and the Massachusetts Historical Commission, and McQuade said he was confident it will.

The brick-face building will be "tucked into" a high bank, with the main portion of the building "way underground," McQuade explained. The roof, covered with dark brown asphalt shingle, is designed with a squared-off peak that houses ventilation stacks. It will be 29 feet high at the peak.

Landscaping at the site will be held to "little or none," the director said, because landscaping would require more maintenance.

One resident asked why no tall trees were to be planted around the building to shield it from view. McQuade answered that that would require buying more property from Shetland, at greater cost. He added that the station will only be visible from Riverina Road during the winter, when trees are bare.

Other residents questioned plans for noise and odor control. The air will be filtered before it is vented, and electric generators will be used only as an emergency back-up, McQuade said; most of the time diesel generators will be used. "I do not expect any noise problems," he said.

Air exhaust control and a back-up system are features the Riverina Road plant does not have. The new plant will also be capable of pumping more sewage, 18 million gallons a day compared to 12 million at the old station. New force main connections will be built to the Lawrence outfall sewer as well, replacing the existing mains. All feed lines will be underground.

The federal government's first national conference on industrial safety met in 1948 in Washington, D.C.

Seven Appointments Approved

Seven new appointments, one retirement and one request for a leave of absence were approved by the School Committee during a meeting at West Elementary School Tuesday night.

The appointments: Helen Drouin of Andover was named a part-time Xerox machine operator at Shawsheen, 15 to 25 hours per week, at $4.28 per hour; and Joan Johnson of Andover and Caroline Shea of Andover were both appointed instructional aides at West Elementary School, to work five hours per week each at $4.44 per hour (step one).

Patricia Korandanis of Andover was named a vocational counselor aide in the occupational education program, to work about 25 hours per week at $4.77 per hour (step two). Korandanis's appointment will be effective through the end of this school year, and depends on the continued receipt of federal funds.

Also appointed: Maria Nicolosi of Andover, permanent substitute art teacher at South through the end of the school year, at a salary based on a yearly salary of $12,983 (bachelor's - step one); Mary Beth Sullivan of Andover, instructional aide in the high school English department, 35 hours per week at $4.44 per hour (step one); and Phyllis Poor of Andover, Bancroft instructional aide, 27 hours per week at $4.44 per hour (step one).

The schoolmen approved the retirement of Charles Lundergan, a junior custodian on the first shift at East Junior High, effective Feb. 28. He has worked in the school department since July, 1971.

They also okayed an unpaid leave of absence for Ann Eldred, a teacher aide at West Junior High who works 30 hours per week. An aide since October, 1973, she has requested the leave from March 1 through the rest of the school year for personal reasons.

And finally, the committeemen approved a correction in personnel action taken recently: Glen Alsup, head coach for winter track at the high school, earns a stipend of $1,856 (step five), and not $1,434 (step three) as previously reported to the committee.

Reduction In Teaching Account Rejected By School Board

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Two suggestions for reducing the teaching account were rejected as the School Committee began a second pass on its $14.5 million 1983 budget Tuesday night at West Elementary school. The committee made its way through a second pass on 10 out of a total of 29 accounts without making any new cuts.

But the schoolmen said they will take another look at the salary portion of the teaching account as well as several other areas on their third pass, and asked the administration to come back with more detailed information in the next week or two.

Committeeman Donald Robb recommended cutting the budget for teaching salaries from $8.11 million to $7.88 million, a reduction of roughly three percent. He estimated that it would mean cutting the staff by 12 to 15 people.

Although he had no specifics on where the cuts might come from, Robb said he had not "pulled a number out of the air," but had looked at several programs that might be adjusted.

Asking for recommendations from the administration, Robb said, "I wanted to generate a discussion. If we are going to deliver quality services and at the same time reduce costs, we have got to be questioning. We've got to start somewhere."

But Chairman Joseph Finn said he rejected the idea of "arbitrarily coming up with a dollar figure, without specific recommendations on where the reductions will come from. It's certainly not in the best interests of the school system."

Robb's colleagues defeated his motion on a four-one vote.

Richard Neal then moved to reduce the teaching salaries budget by $65,000, bringing it down to $8,045,000. He explained that after looking at next year's enrollment projections, he believed five teachers could be cut from the junior high and high school staffs.

Asst. Supt. Charles Mitsakos said declining enrollments would not leave too many teachers, but instead would bring some secondary school classes that are now too large down to more acceptable teacher-pupil ratios.

Explaining that he would like more information from the administration on Neal's idea, Finn said he would vote against it for the time being. Neal's motion was then defeated, and the teaching salary account was left at $8.1 million.

Rather than reduce the staff, Patrick D'Agostino of Rock O' Dundee Road suggested the schools ask the Andover Education Association, the teachers' union, to accept reductions in step and track pay increases already negotiated.

Finn said he doubted the union would go along with that, but Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said the question is raised "quite frequently" with the seven unions of school employees — not just teachers — and would be raised again.

Schoolman Michael Giammusso emphasized that if staffing cuts are made, they will effect not only teachers, but will be made "across the board."

A favorite topic for debate — the need for program advisors — got another brief go-round when the committee took up the salary portion of the supervisors account, budgeted at $470,657. Several members of the audience had questions about the advisors.

Neal said that although he remains opposed to program advisors, he would not argue it at this time and would vote for the account. The chairman, who supports the concept, agreed that it would serve "no useful purpose to continue dragging this thing out."

John S. Eaton, however, said he still believed advisors are "bureaucratic excess baggage," and voted against the account, which was approved on a four-one vote.

Other accounts approved on the second pass with little discussion: the school committee budget, legal affairs, superintendent's office, assistant superintendent's office, personnel, business office, a contingency fund to cover pay raises for management, and the principals' account.

The committee left the administrators with a long list of areas they would like more information on in time for their third, and probably final, pass: administrative and teacher staffing, art and physical education programs, special education, the gifted and talented program, increased teacher-pupil ratios, graduation requirements,

On their first pass, the committee cut the budget by $455,664, bringing it from $14.9 to $14.5 million.

high school and West Junior High electives, and the developmental primary program.

The schoolmen will continue their second pass at 7:30 next Tuesday night at the West Elementary auditorium.

Future meetings are scheduled for March 3, 9 and 11, all at West Elementary, as the committee tries to complete the $14.5 million budget, and then come up with a $12.9 million "emergency" budget, all before the March 22 election. That is the figure the committee will have to work with if voters defeat a Proposition 2½-override question on the ballot.

Budget Available: For A Fee

The expense of reproducing the detailed fiscal '83 school budget (nearly 50 pages thick and printed on both sides) has prevented the school department from handing out copies to everyone who attends the School Committee's budget discussions.

But one parent this week said that after a lot of effort she managed to get her hands on a copy, and suggested others might want to follow her lead.

Deborah Blais of West Parish Drive said she finally got a copy of the budget by paying the business manager's office for one. Tuesday night, she asked if other parents could buy a budget, too, and Superintendent Kenneth Seifert said they could indeed.

The business manager's office at the Shawsheen School will make copies, Seifert said, for a fee that will cover the cost of the reproduction. However, there may be a wait of a day or two for a copy, he added.

Krishfield Academy Nominee

David Paul Krishfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Krishfield, 175 Lowell St., Andover, has been nominated to the United States Air Force Academy by Senator Paul E. Tsongas.

Krishfield is a senior at Phillips Academy where he is a member of the Phillips Academy Ham Radio Club, the Russian Club and the German Club. He was also a 1982 National Merit Scholar Semi-Finalist.

Charles W. Hamilton

Jeff A. Olsen

Two Are Merit Finalists

Andover High seniors Charles W. Hamilton of 1 Hacienda Way and Jeff A. Olsen of 4 Farrwood Drive have been named Finalists in the 1982 National Merit Scholarship competition. They were chosen from among more than 15,000 Semifinalists from across the nation.

The program will award some 5,000 scholarships in three categories, with awards of up to $8,000 each. A group of 13,500 Finalists have been named.

Merit Scholars will be named from among the Finalists in April.

Hamilton, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hamilton. He was finishing a three-week tour of Germany as an exchange student when Finalists were announced yesterday, and was scheduled to arrive home today.

An honor roll student, Hamilton works at Barcelo's market, and plans to try out for the high school golf team next spring. He plans to major in computer science at college, and hopes to enter the computer systems field. The former West Junior High student hopes to attend Brown University next fall.

Olsen, also 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olsen. A former East Junior High student, he is editor of the high school newspaper, yearbook editor, and a member of the gymnastics club, the National Honor Society, the American Field Service, and the Math Club.

He has applied to Amherst College and Bowdoin College, and plans to major in architecture. Olsen says he hopes to go on to a career in architecture.

Students entered the National Merit Scholarship competition by taking a national standardized examination, the PSAT/NMSQT, in 1980. The Semifinalists named in each state represent the top half of one percent of that state's high school seniors.

To qualify as Finalists, students needed to demonstrate their high academic standing, show high test scores, have the full endorsement of their principals, and supply a self-description of their extracurricular activities and accomplishments.

Selectmen Indicate They Favor FinCom Retaining Veto Power

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Although they did not vote on the issue Monday night, the selectmen indicated that they favor keeping the Finance Committee's veto power over special town meetings intact.

A proposal to repeal that FinComm power was one of three private articles on the annual town meeting warrant that were explained to the selectmen this week.

The board took a clear stand on only one of those articles, one that would require the School Committee to submit its annual budget to the Finance Committee 45 days before the FinComm must send its town meeting report to the printer.

Richard Califano of 50 Farrwood Drive said the 1957 bylaw that empowers the Finance Committee to cancel plans for a special town meeting calling for appropriation of funds gives "extremely broad and obtrusive powers" to the appointed committee.

A FinComm veto of a special town meeting "usurps the powers of the citizen in a town meeting government," and represents "a disenfranchising of the electorate," Califano told the board.

The article was inspired by a failed effort to call a special town meeting last December to appropriate $200,000 to spray against gypsy moth caterpillars this spring. The Finance Committee disapproved the proposed article, thereby cancelling plans for a special meeting.

Selectmen Donn Byrne, Edward Harris and Susan Poore each responded that the town has traditionally preferred to consider its budget all at once, at an annual town meeting. An additional appropriation voted by a special town meeting could "throw off any financial planning by the town manager," Byrne said.

"We must not create multiple budgets," Poore added. "We are not trying to circumvent the democratic process — we are trying to channel it."

The selectmen said they are not opposed to the concept of special town meetings — although Byrne noted that a special meeting can cost the town $8,000, and that town meeting recently voted "overwhelmingly" to do away with special meetings every October.

Articles that do not call for appropriations — for instance, zoning changes — may be considered at special meetings, board members explained.

The board did not move to take a position on the private article because only Poore indicated she was willing to vote on it. Chairman Norma Gammon said she did not believe the selectmen should take a stand on any private article.

Gerald Silverman said, "I think overall town meeting will do a good job on this question." Pointing out that a two-thirds vote will be needed to pass the article, he told Califano, "A two-thirds vote is very difficult to achieve at town meeting."

A proposed article that could give the Finance Committee more time to review the school department budget found more favor among the selectmen. Charlotte Tynning of Andover Street said the article, if approved, would give the committee 45 days to review the school budget, enough time to make a recommendation to voters in its annual town meeting report.

Now that Proposition 2½ has given voters the power to vote down school budget requests, Tynning suggested that town meeting should take advantage of that by asking for the FinComm's thoughts on the school budget.

Byrne suggested that the wording of the article was too vague, since the school department budget — in the form of two line items, salaries and expenses — is already available in mid-January, when the town manager's recommended budget is due. He said the article should specify that a detailed break-down of those two items is required.

Tynning said the wording of the article could be amended on the floor of town meeting.

Four selectmen voted to approve the article, with only Gammon opposed on the grounds that the board should not approve the article before the wording was amended. Byrne said the objective of the article was "good," while Silverman called it "long overdue."

The last private article discussed Monday night was inserted by the Foster's Pond Corporation, a group of some 50 families who live on the pond. Rebecca Backman told the board the corporation would like to restrict motor boats used on the pond to 10 horsepower, for safety reasons.

Byrne and Poore voted to support the article, but Gammon voted against it, and Harris and Silverman passed.

The article would only effect Foster's Pond residents, Backman said, because there are no boat launching ramps on the two public accesses to the pond; only residents can get power boats onto the pond.

Last summer two motorboats powerful enough to tow water-skiers were used on the pond, and residents fear that motorboats with more than 10 horsepower could be dangerous to the many small children who live on the pond, Backman explained.

Gammon asked who would enforce the bylaw. "That's the question we've been asking," Town Manager Kenneth R. Mahony commented. "We don't have a navy."

But Backman said the police would enforce the bylaw, and Public Works Director Robert McQuade agreed, explaining that the police currently enforce the restricted use of Haggetts Pond.

Librarian Retiring

The familiar personality with the red hair, who has helped generations of library patrons, is retiring from Memorial Hall Library at the end of the month. Ruth Berthold, having worked on the circulation desk since October 1959 and holding the distinction for longevity at the library, has served under five library directors in the past 22 years.

Dramatic changes in the size of the building, the number of patrons and even in circulation processes, such as the coming age of the computer, mark Mrs. Berthold's tenure. She will be missed by patrons, many of whom have relied over the years on her excellent ideas for book selection.

Recently, one of Mrs. Berthold's daughters and her family have returned to reside in Andover. With retirement, Ruth can pursue what interests her most — reading, travel and grandchildren.

Selective Judgment

Andover's board of selectmen apparently exercises powers of selective judgment when rendering their wisdom to town meeting articles.

This week, for instance, they immediately decided that a private warrant article ordering the school department to submit its final budget 45 days prior to town meeting was indeed worthy of their support.

But, a couple of other private items, such as whether to drop Finance Committee veto powers on money items at special town meetings and regulating motor boat speed on Foster's Pond was in need of further study.

While the members are not to be denied their right to voice opinions on town meeting issues, doesn't it seem strange that the board can grasp some matters with comparative ease, while others present problems.

Often, the board has steered clear of taking a position on private articles, and has often remained neutral on some items within town concerns, such as zoning or planning board issues.

Monday night, however, with only Chairman Norma Gammon opposed, the selectmen decided that the proposal by a group of residents to get the school committee to submit their budget for FinCom and other official and non-official scrutiny 45 days before town meeting was meritorious.

It's not enough for the selectmen to examine and act on the innumerable budgets they face as submitted by the town manager in January. No, the board would extend itself, apparently, to looking into the school department costs at the same time.

The school department submits to the manager its initial budget figures in January, in order that the administrator can include the figures for submission to the selectmen and Finance Committee by the end of the month, according to the charter.

For the past several years the school administration has prepared budget figures for school committee consideration by late fall or early December at the latest.

The school committee then begins the task of reviewing these figures up until close to, and sometimes up until, town meeting time.

During this period, a representative of the Finance Committee sits in on budget discussions as a liaison between the two groups. At other times of the year, there is also FinCom representation at school committee meetings.

The budget discussions are open to the public, and often those with particular interests appear to speak either for or against individual school budgetary requests.

Any major decisions affecting the budget are generally done well in advance, such as school closings, or curtailing of transportation services which has stirred controversy in more recent years.

All of this would cause one to wonder why all of a sudden there is a necessity to get the school people to accelerate their school budget process.

And, if it is so important for the schools to meet that deadline, why should those in charge of the general government budget -- the selectmen and manager -- exempt from such stipulation.

Fact of the matter is that among some selectmen there is a feeling that if there is a chance to take a shot at the school department, seize the opportunity.

But, granting the board members some consideration that they may be seeking to uphold the people's right to legislate themselves through town meeting actions, we trust the board will continue in that vein on the subject of dropping the FinCom veto powers on money items at special town meetings.

It might be remembered that amid a desire to "let the townspeople decide" attitude on the subject this past year, the Finance Committee said they could not give approval to the appropriation of funds to initiate a gypsy moth prevention program, thus the special town meeting was cancelled.

Residents have sought to remove that power from FinCom through another private article in this year's warrant and, if the selectmen are purporting to be the champion of the people, they'll support it.

To do otherwise would lend new definition to the word 'selectmen.' In Andover, rather than being selected to govern, the office would represent selective judgment.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — February 1907

The next lecture on Palestine to be given by Professor Mitchell will be held in the Archaeology building on next Monday evening instead of next Tuesday evening as planned.

There is a bill before the legislature providing for separate boards of trustees for Phillips Andover academy and the Andover Theological seminary. Discussing the matter Principal A.E. Stearns said: "It is felt that the result will be better for both institutions if two separate boards are established."

Aside from the usual articles relating to election of officials and making of regular appropriations, the town warrant has less meat on it this year than for several years. At least this is so on the surface, but, as we have learned so many times before, troubles and expenditures may develop very rapidly in the consideration of town affairs.

After a year of banishment ornamental stock collars are back again. One style is of pink net and white ribbon, reversing the usual color combination, sewed together by opalescent beads.

A large audience was disappointed on Tuesday evening when it was announced that the illustrated lecture to be given by Rev. J. Edgar Park would have to be postponed owing to a mistake made by those in charge of the lantern. Valves which were necessary in the connection of the lighting arrangement had been forgotten and in consequence no light could be secured.

50 Years Ago — February 1932

Despite the fact that no action to build a state school in Andover can possibly be taken for at least another year, because the town will not have an opportunity to vote on sewage and water for such an institution until March, 1933, the State Department of Mental Diseases has options on about 1130 acres of land in West Andover and, it is learned, is planning to take other options in that district if it can get them.

25 Years Ago — February 1957

A generous use of available funds has allowed the Finance Committee to approve major projects and an increased town budget without a frequently-mentioned high increase on the tax rate. Instead, the Fin Com estimates that the rate this year will be $64.47 — an increase of $4.47 — if all of its recommendations are allowed.

The long-awaited new four classrooms comprising the modern addition to the Shawsheen School were opened and ready for "business" this week. Excited children from the two first-grade classes and two fourth-grade classes took their places at the beautiful new desks and were all aglow with pleasure.

10 Years Ago — February 1972

Theodore R. Sizer, Dean of the Harvard graduate school of Education, has been elected the twelfth headmaster of Phillips Academy. Dr. Sizer will take office in September, succeeding John M. Kemper, who died in December. Dr. Sizer, who will be 41 years old in June, was born in New Haven and is a graduate of Yale, Class of 1953.

Andover voters will ballot on two referendum questions in the municipal election, March 6, in addition to choosing town officers. The first deals with the acceptance or rejection of beano games in Andover, under new state enabling legislation. The second deals with payments by the town toward contributory group life and health insurance for municipal employees, including teachers.

Andover PeeWee A's Win District II Championship

This past week the Andover PeeWee A team achieved what no other Andover team has ever done: won all the contests in a single elimination tournament to become Massachusetts District II Champions.

This team exemplifies what teamwork in a sport is all about. Each member was called upon in a different way to assure the team of a victory, and every one of the players met the challenge beyond the call of duty.

Along with this title goes a trip to the Cape Cod Coliseum in March to meet all the Massachusetts district champs in tournament play.

Andover 9 - Saugus 4

Andover showed their dominance early in the first round game played in Danvers. Glenn Allard opened the scoring when he received a pass from Tom Tormey and took a hard angle shot from the right hand corner zipping it by the goalie. Saugus retaliated with a goal but, within 26 seconds, Andover went ahead when Chris Sapuppo sent the puck up ice to Kyle McCabe who took the puck and picked the right corner for his target to tie up the game.

Nine seconds ran down on the clock when Sapuppo assisted Allard whose shot on goal broke off the goalies stick and went in. Sapuppo earned Playmaker Honors when he set up the next goal by passing to Jamie O'Brien who skated across the front of the net and put the puck by the dazed goalie.

Saugus was trying their best to come back and scored the last goal in the first period with the score 4-2.

Second period Saugus got a rally going and scored the only second period goal. Andover monopolized the third period. Steve Donovan, who had been excellent in passing the entire game, got an assist to his credit when Allard scored his third giving him the Hat Trick Award.

Second and third periods saw a lot of penalty killing by Mark Berberian, Pat Breen, Pete Trede and Tom Tormey as they helped goalies, Chris Hansberry and James Berberian, prevent the opponent from scoring and gaining confidence.

Andover's sixth goal was scored when Kyle McCabe made a pinpoint pass to Matt Young who put the puck right between the goalie and the post.

Steve Donovan set up a nice play as Pat Breen took a hard shot and startled the goalie as it flew into the net.

Everyone got a part of the victory pie when Joe Lyons brought the puck into the zone and passed behind the net to McCabe who quickly redirected the puck to Dave Riddiford who fired point blank on the net for goal number eight. Powerful Sapuppo got the final goal on a wraparound and Andover won with a 9-3 tally.

Andover 10 - Triton 3

And the beat goes on. In the quarter final, Triton shocked Andover with a quick goal early in the first period, but Andover became determined and scored one of their own when Jamie O'Brien sent a pass behind the net to Steve Donovan. Glenn Allard had his stick ready out in front of the net and he put Donovan's pass in the net easily. The next line combined for the second goal as Kyle McCabe got the puck to Matt Young who passed to Mark Berberian who got the score when he tried to stuff the puck and the goalie missed the save.

Teamwork again was the key to the victory and Joe Lyons set up Donovan for a shot. Donovan chose to pass across the front to Dave Riddiford who got the third goal. Donovan did get the next goal off a perfect pass from Allard.

Defenseman Tom Tormey sent the puck up ice to McCabe who took advantage of the opportunity for a quick wrist shot scoring goal number five.

Berberian scored the next two goals earning another hat trick this season, as did Allard who got two more goals giving him two hat tricks for the tournament.

Donovan scored a well played goal and Pat Breen got an assist to bring the final score up to ten goals against three.

Goalies Chris Hansberry and James Berberian displayed their usual outstanding ability in goal.

Andover 2 - Ipswich 0

Semi-final play in Beverly was tougher by far as Ipswich players proved to have greater size.

The first period ended 0-0. Every player performed at his best, especially James Berberian who made many saves—seven of them unbelievable ones that you only expect from the pros.

In the second period Andover was no longer intimidated by the height and size of the Ipswich players and they buckled down to win the game. Matt Young passed to defenseman Tom Tormey who slapped a bullet from the left point by the goalie to score a goal.

Third period action was tense and both teams were playing their hardest. Matt Young dug hard for the puck and passed to Kyle McCabe who scored on a backhand to the left corner of the net to clinch the semi-final win 2-0.

Andover 3 - North Andover 1

The final game was definitely the hardest with the title at stake. No. Andover scored first and had several more opportunities, but defensemen Tom Tormey, Chris Sapuppo, Pete Trede and Pat Breen were always just beating out the play. Mark Neaves, Joe Lyons and Dave Riddiford kept the pressure on. James Berberian was extremely hot in goal as he was faced with breakaways and every shot that can be made. His teammates supported this with some great rallies of their own. Mark Berberian, Kyle McCabe and Matt Young solidified the offensive pressure. Finally, in the second period, Glenn Allard started the puck from the red line. Steve Donovan sent it across ice to Jamie O'Brien who took an off-balance shot at the goalie which eked through to bring the Andover team and players to a standing ovation—the game was tied.

Playing shorthanded due to a penalty, Sapuppo got the puck from Mark Berberian at a faceoff and skated in all alone to outwit the goalie for the winning goal.

The last minute effort by No. Andover was to pull their goalie, but Andover gained the victory when Young sent the puck to O'Brien who scored.

Each champion player got a trophy as an award for superb effort.

General George A. Custer ranked last in his West Point graduating class of 1861.

Three Teams Vie For Top Spot

By Rick Harrison

A three-way struggle for supremacy of the Andover Church Basketball League Intermediate Blue Division continued last week as Temple Emanuel, St. Robert's D and Christ Church A all won to remain within one game of each other.

Undefeated Temple Emanuel (6-0) zapped South B 34-20, St. Robert's D trimmed West Parish B 28-5, and Christ Church A handled St. Augustine C 32-16.

Temple remains one-half game ahead of St. Robert's D, which stands at 6-1, and one game ahead of Christ A at 5-1.

In other Blue Division play at the West Junior High gym, Ballardvale B (3-3) dumped South A 20-6, St. Augustine's D (3-3) edged St. Robert's F 13-8, and St. Robert's E (4-3) upended Ballardvale A 27-18.

Ballardvale B, 20-6

Ballardvale B kept South A scoreless in the first half, building a 10-0 lead, and the winners then coasted home over the final two periods.

Mickey Connors was the game-high scorer for BU with 10 points, Alan Hanley and Mike Troy contributed four apiece, and Devon Arsenault added a first-quarter basket.

Andy Hager, Matt Kelly and Bob Schmidt delivered single baskets for South A.

St. Robert's D, 28-5

Tom Sheehan poured through 18 points, six in the opening period and a dozen more in the third quarter, to power St. Robert's D to its triumph over West Parish B (3-4).

The winners were never in any serious trouble, but it was Sheehan's third period outburst that put the game away.

Bruce Taylor tossed in four points for the second place club, while solo buckets were notched by Jeff Landry, Eric Green and Matt Jarek.

Other standouts for St. Robert's D were Billy Martin, Mike Hein and Yvonne Guzley.

Dave Carnes and John Hess had the only baskets for West B, while Stewart Rees converted a fourth quarter free throw.

Defensive hustlers for West B were Doug Bruk, Chris Kew and George Bilger.

Trailing 8-5 at halftime, St. Augustine's D parlayed a balanced attack and some staunch shutout defense in the final two periods to sink St. Robert's F (2-4).

Paul Dubanowitz led five players into the scoring column with 4 points, Scott Lanouette added 3, and single fieldgoals were contributed by the winners' Bobby Hughes, Andy Peck and Andy Hamel.

Also playing well for St. Augustine's D were Pete Caruso, Jason Scarpaci and Brian Winters.

Chris Landers captured game-high point honors for St. Robert's F with 6, Dan Fay added a second quarter basket, and other stalwarts were John Mattola, Tim Melia and Greg DeVoir.

Christ A, 32-16

Nine different players contributed to the Christ Church A offense, as the title challengers grabbed a 20-10 halftime edge and then outscored St. Augustine's C 12-6 over the final two stanzas.

Bart Kalkstein, Jon Pratt and Bob Beanland pocketed 6 points apiece for C-C, Dave

Lewis and Fred Newcombe chipped in 4 each, and single buckets were netted by Jim Robinson and John Knowles.

Brad Wright and Matt Corbett rounded out the Christ A attack with fourth quarter free throws.

Mike Labreck, Pat Hayes, Kevin Foley and Pete Kannam did all the damage for St. Augustine's C, with each member of that quartet stuffing four points.

St. Robert's E, 27-18

Both teams emerged from this game with 4-3 records, as St. Robert's E inched ahead 10-8 at halftime before using a 17-10 second half spurt to subdue Ballardvale United A.

Jim Spinelli was the top sharpshooter for the victors, pumping through 10 points.

Jeff Brodie produced all 6 of his points in the third quarter, Josh Malitsky added 4 points, Jim Murphy 5 and Brendan McGrail 2.

Brad Reghitto and Mike Faraci also played well for St. Robert's E.

Dave Rehe and Andy Meckel sparked the answering fire for BU, hitting 8 and 6 points respectively, while Kim Lowe hooped 3 points and Glen McLeod had a first period free throw.

Temple Emanuel, 34-20

Temple received points from eight different players enroute to its diversified decision over South B.

South hung tough for the first half, trailing only 12-7, but a 14-4 third quarter run by Temple decided the issue.

Jeff Bolan led the first place team with 10 points, six of them in the pivotal third quarter, while Steve Gack and Erik Frank chipped in six points each.

Rounding out the winners' assault were Mickey Shallop with 4 points, Mike Englehart 2, Bob Labell 2, Gary Witover 2 and Jeremy Kaplan 2.

Mark Leinsen and Scott Godess were other standouts for TE.

Chris Eggert emerged as game-high scorer for South B, dunking 11 points, while others adding three points each were Leo Fontaine, Jim Hendry and Dana Orlando.

All-Stars Bow In Tewksbury

By Rick Harrison

The Andover All-Stars seventh grade basketball team came up short in its bid to capture the championship of the first annual Tewksbury Invitational Youth Tournament, bowing to a strong Wakefield crew 57-54 in semifinal round play last Sunday at the Tewksbury High gym.

Wakefield, which had blown out Athol 65-41 in the opening round, went on to win the tourney title later in the day by blasting host Tewksbury 62-42 in the championship final.

The loss was the first suffered by Andover in its brief two-year existence, the locals having won the Saugus Ironworks Tournament last season and belted Fort Devens of Ayer 66-37 in last week's opening round of Tewksbury play.

Wakefield enjoyed a decided height advantage over Andover, which played without one of its top rebounders Steve Redgate.

The absence of Redgate, coupled with early foul problems to several key players and an inability to hit several relatively easy shots down the stretch spelled Andover's downfall.

Wakefield bolted to an early 12-3 lead, sparked by Dave Majeski (six points) and Tournament MVP Bob Plansky (six points), but by the end of the first quarter Andover had climbed back to trail by just one point at 16-15.

Chris Poor pumped in eight points and John Perry added four to get the locals back into the game.

Nine points by Perry, five by Kurt Burzlaff and some solid rebounding (seven in the period) by Burzlaff paced Andover to a 30-25 lead late in the half.

However, Wakefield countered with the final eight points of the second quarter to take a 33-30 lead at intermission.

Wakefield, which won the game at the free throw line, swished nine of 15 charities in the second period alone.

A pair of buckets by Perry early in the third stanza enabled Andover to regain a 34-33 edge, and the teams battled on almost even terms for the remainder of the quarter which ended in a 43-43 tie.

The rivals remained within one basket of one another for the first six minutes of the fourth quarter, which saw the Andover offense sputter with Perry doing the bulk of the damage.

The score was 50-48 with less than two minutes to go, and it was at this point the Andover crew missed a number of lay-ups and shots inside the 10-foot range that could have carried them to victory.

While the locals were being frustrated in close, Wakefield was going to the line eight times and hitting four to keep its lead intact.

Both teams finished the contest with 21 fieldgoals, while Wakefield hit 15-of-24 free throws to Andover's 12-of-22.

John Perry and Kurt Burzlaff, both of whom were close in the MVP voting, led the Andover attack.

Perry poured through a single-game tournament high of 30 points, adding three rebounds, two steals and two assists.

Burzlaff netted 6 points, and he was a major factor off the boards with 17 rebounds. He also blocked two shots and handed out a pair of assists.

Chris Poor contributed 8 points, 3 steals and 2 assists, while Chris Colsia had 5 points, 6 rebounds and 2 steals.

Mike Lane swished a pair of free throws and had two assists, while Nick Coon converted a foul shot and ripped down three rebounds.

Also playing strong floor games for Andover were John Twomey and Peter Derba.

Majeski and Plansky paced the Wakefield offense with 18 and 17 points, respectively.

In a subsequent consolation game against Revere, Andover placed eight players in the scoring column.

Perry once again led the way with 19 points, giving him 67 in the three tourney contests.

John Twomey contributed 6 points, Chris Poor 5, Nick Coon 5, Pete Derba 5, Mike Lane 4, Chris Colsia 4 and Dave Vickers 4.

Poor and Lane led the way in rebounding with 7 apiece, Colsia had 6, Perry 6, Coon 6, Twomey 6, Derba 5 and Bill O'Brien 2.

Mike Lane also had 2 steals and 2 assists, while

Dave Vickers dished off 3 assists, Poor 2 and Derba blocked one shot.

The Andover All-Star seventh graders will return to action in several more tournaments, including those in Athol, New Bedford, Wakefield, Somerville.

Lady Warriors Peaking

In a blazing season finale, Andover's Lady Warriors appear to have peaked at the correct time—just before the state tournament.

The Ladies' have aken wo of their last three over extremely tough and talented opposition. They began by dumping big and dangerous Wilmington at home by a 47-38 score only to be followed by a 56-45 thrashing at the hands of the Chelmsford Lions. The girls then capped off the regular season by whipping the Hillies of Haverhill by a 57-43 margin.

The Andover-Wilmington rivalry kept the fans on the edge of their seats as the Ladies trailed at the end of the first period 13-12 as Heather Thompson hit for eight points in the opening session. The second period saw Andover take a 23-21 half time as Beth Sullivan added 5 points while Heather Thompson hit for 5 more.

The third period found Andover extend their lead by one to 33-30 as Debbi LaSota and Thompson each pocketed a pair of hoops.

The fourth period found Andover outscoring the Cats by a 14-8 score for the final of 47-38 margin. Thompson finished with 23 points on 11 buckets and 1 free throw, while Sullivan had 4 hoops and 3 free throws for 11 points. LaSota had 4 baskets for 8 points, Connie Corkery 2 baskets for 4 points and Karen Bourdelais added a foul shot.

The Lady Warriors then ran into a buz-zaw at the hands of the Lions of Chelmsford as they were beaten by a 56-45 score. Coach Kelley felt that the score did not indicate the licking the girls had taken as they were beaten in every facet of the game.

After taking a 17-14 lead in the opening period, the girls found themselves behind by six at the half. Period three offered no solution as the Lions outscored them by a 17-3 margin for a 20 point bulge after three priods.

The Warriors proceeded to gain a 17-8 edge in period four, but the game had already been decided.

Andover was again led by Heather Thompson with 19 and Beth Sullivan with 17, but it was to stop there as the Lions forced the Ladies away from the basket and shut off the remainder of the team.

The Lady Warriors saved their best for last as they traveled to Haverhill to face the Hillies in the regular season finale.

The opening period told the story of the game as the Ladies jumped out to a 26-10 lead with Heather Thompson leading the way with 15 points coupled with Beth Sullivan's 6. The Warriors also got a bucket from Debbi LaSota and Beth Luciano with Karen Bourdelais adding a foul shot.

Period number two showed no signs of the Lady Warriors slacking off as they outscored the Hillies by a 14-8 tune. This left the Ladies out front by a 40-18 score at half-time with Thompson adding five more and Sullivan six.

Period number three would see the Ladies open the lead to 29 points at which time the Andover bench took over the game.

The inexperienced bench allowed Haverhill to chop off some of the lead, but Coach Kelley felt that they gained valuable experience as Haverhill allowed their starters to stay in until the end. The end came gracefully with the Ladies on top by 57-43.

The regular season had concluded with a 13-4 record and the seventh seeded slot in the state tournament. Andover is slated to meet 15-5 Winchester at Andover at press time in what figures to be a great matchup between Merrimack Valley and Middlesex League rivals.

Diabetes Screening

A free diabetes screening will be offered at the Regional Health Center, 76 Treble Cove Road, Billerica, on Thursday, March 4, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Interested individuals should report to the Health Resources Corporation Office and, in order to obtain the most accurate results, should fast for four hours prior to the test. Pre-registration is required and can be obtained by calling 667-2590.

Diabetes is a major factor in heart disease, circulatory problems and kidney disorders. It results when the pancreas gland does not make enough insulin—a hormone which permits the sugars and starches in food to be changed into energy needed by the body. As the disease has no visible symptoms, the only way it can be detected is by the quick, simple screening.

was selected as the first alternate to represent District VII's Class V Boy's Division Racers. In all, 13 districts from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and all New England will vie for the number one Junior Nordic area in the east.

A Little Spray And Lots Of Education Aimed At Gypsy Moth

Andover will take double-barreled aim at the gypsy moth caterpillar this spring, with a public education program to help townspeople fight moths on their own property supplemented by spraying of selected roadside trees.

There will be no town-wide aerial spraying, however, as some townspeople had hoped.

A Board of Health subcommittee formed last year to study the moth problem decided that aerial spraying, at a cost of $200,000, would not be the most effective and economical way to fight gypsy moths. Instead, the committee recommended a public education campaign.

In a memo to the town manager last week, Public Health Director Everett F. Penney, Jr. reported that a three-member task force has been meeting weekly to work on the spring program. The members are Penney, Dorothy Sherred of Memorial Hall Library and Tree Superintendent James Bamford.

The task force is planning a three-part effort, Penney indicated. First, a one-page "advisory" on the town's spraying program, along with recommendations for private spraying and tree protection, will be inserted in the Finance Committee's annual report, which is mailed to all residents before annual town meeting.

Next, the library will sponsor a public forum at West Junior High School on April 14, when experts on tree protection, pesticide use, commercial spraying and potential health effects of spraying will answer residents' questions.

Finally, the library's "Answers" telephone reference service will offer resources, referrals and information on the moth problem to townspeople.

Plans for the public education program should be complete by mid-March, according to Penney.

The Forestry division of Public Works will spray some roadside shade trees beginning around May 10, and continuing through mid-June, Town Manager Kenneth R. Mahony told the selectmen this week. Forestry crews will spray carbaryl (Sevin) from a hydraulic sprayer mounted on a truck.

Plans call for starting in the northwest quadrant of town, along the Merrimack River, and working toward the southeast quadrant, on the North Reading line.

Bishop Nicholas was imprisoned for his faith and later sainted for working miracles. His day, Dec. 6, was blended with Christmas and the myth of Santa Claus.

MATHEMATICS OF INSULATION

The oil boycott has resulted in huge savings to homeowners who have come to appreciate the value of conserving energy. The major source of energy conservation in the home is insulation. The dollar results can be staggering.

For example, one major gas company provides statistics that show that if just one percent of the 1.4 million uninsulated homes in their marketing area were equipped with adequate insulation, saving would be sufficient to heat 3,500 single family homes a year. By adding attic insulation to 3 uninsulated homes, enough energy can be saved to furnish all of the energy needs to heat one additional home -20%.

What's the absolutely lowest cost home insulation/energy saving device? The window shade. The lowly window shade can save 21 cents of each dollar spent cooling an otherwise well-insulated home or apartment. Research by the Ill. Inst. of Technology found that an opaque shade mounted within a window frame admitted about 45% less heat than unshaded windows.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Town Working Toward Keeping Farm In West Andover

Town officials are working to preserve another Andover farm under the state's Agricultural Preservation Restrictions Act: the Vartabedian farm off Bellevue Road in West Andover.

The farm is located near the Dargoonian farm, which town meeting last year voted to preserve as a permanent working farm by purchasing the development rights to the farm, in partnership with the state.

Town Manager Kenneth R. Mahony Monday night told the selectmen it would cost the town about $10,000 to $15,000 to purchase its share of the development rights to the 34-acre Vartabedian farm.

Under the terms of the agricultural preservation act, once the town and state buy the development rights the farm can never be developed and will always be farmed.

The manager said buying the Vartabedian rights appeared to be a bargain, "a cheap price to pay" for insuring that another working farm will continue in Andover.

The selectmen agreed, voting unanimously to support purchasing the development rights — as long as the town's share of the cost does not exceed $20,000, or 10 percent of the value of the farmland.

The Conservation Commission is currently discussing the Vartabedian purchase with the state, Mahony said, and the selectmen's endorsement will smooth the way for the project.

Unlike the Dargoonian farm, the Vartabedian purchase would not have to come before town meeting because the conservation commission already has the funds in its budget, he added, and would not have to request an additional appropriation.

More West Andover farmland may be considered for preservation in the near future, the manager indicated.

Intended to save Massachusetts' dwindling share of active farmland from development, the agricultural preservation act pays the farmer the difference between the value of a farm as farmland and as developable real estate.

The farmer contemplating retirement can therefore resist the temptation to sell his land to the highest bidder — usually a developer. And the land becomes more affordable to a farmer who would like to buy it.

If a farmer who has taken advantage of the preservation act later wants to sell the land to a real estate developer, he would have to buy back the development rights from the town and state.
